Roles

To prioritize the most life-giving relationships I have, beginning with Jesus, and proceeding to my family and grandchildren.

Gifts

As an introvert and reflective person I will naturally find solitude and quiet; yet, I need to intentionally push myself beyond my natural relational boundaries in order to use the gifts and talents that God has given me for God's glory.

Desires

Caring for my soul- learning, experiencing and sharing

Loving the people in my life- from core relationships outward

Empowering others to love and serve God- using my position as opportunity

Serving the Church- using my time, gifts and talents

Enjoying the next adventure- being young at heart

Vision

God has given me a vision to use my life to steer the church toward divine purpose, with special emphasis on leading His children to discover how much he loves them and desires to live life with them.

Mission

My personal mission statement is to engage my passion for spiritual formation by working to love, mentor and disciple my concentric circles of vital relationships, starting with my family and extending to the apprentices God brings into my life.
